I'm using Spring Security OAuth2 for my app, and everything works fine. I have a generated Resource Server (PostgreSQL 9.1 database backend) and, on the server side, I'm using the "authorization_code" grant type to protect my API endpoints.

Everything works fine, but I have a problem with the login page. On this page I'm doing a redirect to my app using this configuration: So I get this error on the browser: There is no sign in service at the endpoint Spring Security OAuth 2.0 Spec: The error_description indicates that Spring Security doesn't expect this /login endpoint - but it should, just as it does with all the other endpoints. I debugged and saw that Spring Security
