The tool can be used for getting information about an unlimited number of domains at once, providing that each domain has been registered in a single extension. Whois Extractor includes a unique technology that can process multiple items at once, which makes the application ideal for anyone who wants to manage a large number of domains. As it is an online application, it doesn't have to be installed on your computer, therefore making it suitable for anyone who wants to maintain or get information about a single domain.

Simple to use It is quite simple to use, as it requires no specialized knowledge to operate. In fact, anyone with basic knowledge of web domains can operate it. As the application is online, it can be used on any computer and requires no installations. It can be accessed by simply going to its website, entering the desired information, and clicking "Search". Extracts information for many domain names at once The application can extract information about a large number of domains at once. This includes searching domains by extension, searching for any extension, and searching for a specific name within a given extension. The search functionality can also be combined with several other tools, such as those that provide search results based on the country of the domain or the language of its text content. Search by extension The application can search for a domain by extension. This will give you the ability to quickly find all the domains of a certain extension. All you need to do is enter the extension and then click "Search". You will then be presented with all the domains that match this extension. This feature will enable you to quickly find all the domains that are part of a certain domain extension. Search any extension The application can also search for any extension. To do this, simply enter the extension in the search field. After you have entered the extension, click "Search" and you will be presented with all the domains that match this extension.
