This freeware is intended for programmers, technical people and for beginners who don't know how to use the Task Manager in Windows yet. How it works... ...During each use, this simple application runs and monitors if your CPU usage is too high, and checks if you still have programs running in the background. If you select 'Stop Task', the application will use its 'Close Windows' feature to force all running programs to quit first. After closing your open windows, the system will be cleared of any process that was running. The application will then take you directly to the Task Manager, where it will monitor your system for any running programs. In case one or more programs are still running, a notification will be displayed. It also monitors for programs that are either too old or that are obsolete and might want to close. This is basically a helper application for those who might not be so familiar with the Windows Task Manager, and want to look for programs that might be using too much of your CPU or RAM.
