Ryan Clark (Australian footballer) Ryan James Clark (born 26 September 1976) is a former Australian rules footballer and is now a coach with the Western Bulldogs, playing at the centre half-forward position. Clark won the 2004 Norm Smith Medal as the best and fairest player in the Australian Football League. He was traded to the Bulldogs at the end of the 2008 season. In July 2011, Clark was announced as part of a group of nine players being delisted by the Western Bulldogs. The group included future teammate Dale Morris. After a very successful season at the Bulldogs, he was elevated from the rookie list to the senior list with the Bulldogs in 2012 to play in the 2011 home and away season. He played a total of 11 games for the club and averaged 12 possessions, a club best for the year. He also played 9 games for St Kilda and had a total of 66 possessions (1 goal, 2 goals) for the season in a season ruined by a serious shoulder injury that required surgery. After missing the entire 2012 season as he recovered from shoulder surgery, Clark made a welcome return to the AFL in round 9 of 2013, against the previously undefeated Sydney Swans. That match also saw the Bulldogs play their 1000th game in the club's history.
